Re: Funding the Sea Turtle Science and Recovery Program at Padre Island National Seashore

Dear Secretary Bernhardt,

As an advocate for endangered sea turtles and Senior Representative in Texas for Defenders of Wildlife, I am writing to urge the Department of the Interior to continue fully funding the Padre Island National Seashore (PINS) Sea Turtle Science and Recovery Program, and offer over 700 signatures from supporters joining our request.

The National Parks Service threatens to cut the Sea Turtle Recovery and Protection Program at PINS by 30%. This decision comes as one tropical storm has already hit the region this year, leaving tons of debris and damaging program buildings.

Kemp's ridley sea turtles, one of the most endangered sea turtle species in the world, nest on Padre Island's beaches. Endangered green and loggerhead sea turtles also nest along the state's coast. Incredible work is being done to protect these species by experts like Dr. Donna Shaver, head of the Sea Turtle Science and Recovery Division. Nightly patrols, nest management, public outreach and research have made a powerful difference in advancing sea turtle recovery. As threats to sea turtles continue, sea turtle protection activities should be supported rather than cut back.

We ask the Department of Interior to continue to protect these sea turtles by fully funding the vital Sea Turtle Science and Recovery Program at PINS. Texas citizens have depended on the incredible work carried out to protect endangered sea turtles and want it to continue for years to come.

Thank you for your consideration. Defenders of Wildlife reaffirms its commitment to sea turtle recovery and looks forward to a fruitful partnership with the Padre Island National Seashore Sea Turtle Science and Recovery program.

Sincerely,

Paul Sanchez-Navarro
Senior Representative, Texas, SW Program
Defenders of Wildlife

Padre Island National Seashore Sea Turtle Recovery and Protection Program, Texas
