CONSERVATION REPORT CARD

EVALUATING THE 113TH CONGRESS, 1ST SESSION

Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund educates the public about conservation issues and generates grassroots efforts to ensure that members of Congress and the president hear from constituents on pending legislation and regulations.

Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund advocates in Washington, D.C., for legislation to safeguard wildlife and habitat and fights efforts to undermine conservation laws, such as the landmark Endangered Species Act. The Action Fund also publishes the Conservation Report Card to help citizens hold their legislators accountable by providing information on how lawmakers voted on important conservation issues. An online version of the Conservation Report Card, which contains detailed and updated information about key votes, is available on the Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund website:

Hurricane Sandy churns off the East Coast, October 28, 2012.

Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund's 2013 Conservation Report Card measures the commitment of U.S. senators and representatives to wildlife and habitat conservation during the first session of the 113th Congress. At a glance, it tells you how well your elected representatives are safeguarding our natural heritage for our children and grandchildren.

The 2013 report card reviews four Senate votes, including one that provided an unprecedented level of funding for the restoration and enhancement of natural systems to build resilience against natural disasters like Hurricane Sandy, which are likely to increase in frequency and intensity due to climate change. Other Senate votes concern efforts to endorse construction of the environmentally destructive Keystone XL pipeline, to require installation of additional damaging walls along our borders in the Southwest, and to undermine the enforcement of the Clean Water Act.

The report card also summarizes 11 votes by the House of Representatives, which continued its multi-year full assault on the environment. Despite the single bright spot of joining with the Senate to provide unprecedented funding to better prepare for the types of natural resource impacts expected from climate change, the House consistently voted down conservation proposals while approving measures that would threaten wildlife and natural resources.

The Houses's anti-environment actions included approving measures that would slash funding for the recovery of a national wildlife refuge impacted by Hurricane Sandy, expand offshore drilling and destroy national forests through excessive logging.

HOUSE

KEY ISSUES & VOTES

1 Slashing Funding for Recovery of a Wildlife Refuge Impacted by Hurricane Sandy

The House passed an amendment to Hurricane Sandy response legislation that eliminated critical funds for rebuilding the Stewart McKinney National Wildlife Refuge. (January 15, 2013, Roll Call No.19)

2 Eliminating Land Acquisition From Hurricane Sandy Response

The House passed an amendment to Hurricane Sandy response legislation that barred the use of recovery funds to acquire federal land for fortifying damaged national wildlife refuges and parks. (January 15, 2013, Roll Call No.21)

3 Funding Restoration and Enhancement of Natural Systems to Build Resilience

The House passed an amendment that would provide emergency funding for repair and restoration of public lands damaged by Hurricane Sandy and additional significant funding for restoring and enhancing natural systems to build resilience against future disasters. (January 15, 2013, Roll Call No. 22)

4 Recklessly Mandating Construction of the Keystone XL Pipeline

The House passed a bill that would approve the Keystone XL pipeline's northern route without a presidential permit or additional environmental impact statements. (May 22, 2013, Roll Call No. 179)

5 Protecting Sensitive Private Lands for Wildlife and Water

The House voted down an amendment that would have encouraged farmers and ranchers to enroll their most environmentally sensitive lands in a federal conservation program. (June 19, 2013, Roll Call No. 259)

6 Slashing Funding for Private Land Conservation

The House defeated a bill that would have reduced private land conservation and habitat improvement by $4.8 billion over 10 years and prevented the attachment of conservation safeguards to harmful farm subsidies. (June 20, 2013, Roll Call No. 286)

7 Protecting Bristol Bay and Removing an Incentive to Coastal Drilling

The House rejected an amendment that would have protected ecologically important Bristol Bay in Alaska from oil and gas drilling and eliminated revenue-sharing provisions in the underlying bill that provide incentives for states to support oil drilling despite risks to their coastlines. (June 29, 2013, Roll Call No. 299)

8 Expanding Offshore Oil Drilling Dramatically to the Detriment of Wildlife and Our Coasts

The House passed a bill that would give the oil industry access to thousands of miles of coastline currently off limits to drilling, undermine bedrock environmental laws, create incentives for coastal states to support damaging oil drilling, and stifle the public's ability to hold the industry accountable. (June 28, 2013, Roll Call No. 304)

KEY ISSUES & VOTES

9 Destroying our National Forests Through Excessive Logging and Undermining Environmental Law

The House passed a bill that would dramatically increase logging on national forests and undermine bedrock environmental laws to the detriment of wildlife, drinking water and community access. The legislation includes trust proposals on O&C lands in Oregon and elsewhere that would upend decades of science-based forest management and planning and further harm endangered species. (September 20, 2013, Roll Call No. 483)

10 Countering Efforts to Undermine Environmental Review of Federal Water Projects

The House rejected an amendment that would have delayed implementation of provisions in the Water Resources Development Act intended to weaken environmental review. The amendment addressed the misconception that environmental review is delaying the completion of large-scale water projects, such as dams and port dredging, and highlighted the true cause of delay: the lack of funding to support the huge number and scale of authorized infrastructure projects. (October 23, 2013, Roll Call 556)

11 Expanding Oil And Gas Development on Public Lands and Encouraging Arctic Refuge Drilling

The House passed a bill that would prioritize oil and gas development over other multiple uses on public lands and give the state of Alaska the leverage to open the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge to oil drilling. (November, 20, 2013, Roll Call No. 600)

The House consistently voted down conservation proposals while approving measures that would threaten wildlife and natural resources.

MORE ABOUT
DEFENDERS OF WILDLIFE
ACTION FUND

The Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund was founded in 2001 after it became clear that the most effective enemy of responsible environmental protection had become the elected leadership in Washington. The environmental movement needed to focus more on persuading elected officials to be good stewards of our land, air, water and wildlife. And it needed more political muscle to help defeat those who refused to do so.

The Defenders of Wildlife Action Fund was formed to help provide that muscle. But the Action Fund's work goes well beyond the ballot box. In addition to keeping voters informed of their legislators' records on issues that affect wildlife and habitat via this report card, the Action Fund works on Capitol Hill to block anti-conservation legislation, such as efforts to override the Endangered Species Act and to open the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge to drilling. In the coming years and election cycles, the Action Fund will continue to provide conservation with a voice in the political process in pursuit of its mission to conserve our nation's wildlife and natural heritage for future generations.
